16th and 17th April, 2018

BROCHURE

Personality is the combination of characteristics or qualities that form an individual's distinctive character. Personality arises from within and makes us who we are. Personality development is nothing but the act of moving from an inert and disinterested state of existence to a zealous, motivated and joyous living one. It's the act of celebrating your uniqueness without hesitations and boundaries, but only with more enthusiasm and liveliness.

Personality Development is the development of organised pattern of behaviour and attitude that makes a person distinctive. Personality development occurs by the ongoing interaction of temperament, character and environment. There are inherent natural, genetic and environmental factors that contribute to the development of our personality. Personality development is exceedingly important for one to have a sharpened image and one's personality to be able to have an efficient socially viable and impressive appearance.
