19th October, 2019

BROCHURE

Ethics refer to morals, values, and beliefs of the individuals, family or the society. Ethical Values are inborn within individuals and differ among individuals. Individual values do change temporarily due to external forces. Values reflect a person's sense of right or wrong. It lays the foundation in understanding people's attitude and motivation. Values exert major influence on the behaviour of an individual or group, which serves as general guidelines in all situations.

'Ethics and Human Value' is a very relevant subject of today's environment of conflicts and stress in the profession, with obligations to be met by one person in many directions. A formal study will certainly improve one's ability and judgment and refine one's behaviour, decisions, and actions in performing the duty to the family, organization, and to the society. Human values are closely related to human life. No human life is possible without values. Human values are those universal concepts, drivers of action which are found in all cultures, societies, time and in all places where human being seek out their lives.

Over the past five years, meeting the challenges of life skills on day-to-day life through constantly changing environment, has affected worldwide economics. When matched with the transformation in technology education, the workplace and home life are affected. Students aspire to gain new skills to deal stress and frustration.

Today's students have many new careers over the period of their lives. With associated burdens or pressure they need flexibility to meet and survive with the change in modern life. In India, many students work hard to get decent grades. But yet struggle to gain employment. Apart from their syllabus, the students should learn the ability to self-manage, solve problems and understand the business environment. They should work as a team member with time and people management. They need to be alert, adapt to different roles and flexible in working environments. With this pressure to cope, it is vital that students are taught to manage their live with empathy - human values need to be inculcated into their very being.
